Controller Halleck left for the East on last evening's train.

A. C. Jackson, Superintendent of the Mt. Diablo mine, is in the city.

Grand Temperance mass meeting this evening at Moore & Parker's Hall.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Full morning service at 11 o'clock. Sunday School at 12:30. No evening service.

Hon. C. S. Varian is in town, to attend the U. S. Circuit Court, which will meet tomorrow, with Judge Sawyer presiding.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—Dr. D. Banks McKenzie will preach in the Presbyterian church at 11 A. M. No services in the evening.

METHODIST CHURCH.—Quarterly meeting at the Methodist Church to day, conducted by Elder Carver. Preaching at 11 A. M. and at 7:30 P. M. Communion services after preaching.

The women in the East are organizing a dress reform and they propose to array themselves in dresses which do not cost over $20. The class of women who do this are probably the same who get $50 from their husbands for a dress and make their appearance in one costing $200, while the unsuspecting husband imagines that he paid for it all.

MUSICAL.—Miss Lizzie Davis, of Virginia City, teacher of the violin, comes to Carson every Monday and remains until Wednesday. Adults or children wishing to become rapid and correct performers on the violin, and to acquire a profound knowledge of musical time and to read readily, also generally musical theory can get all necessary information as to terms etc., by inquiring of C. A. Marston, photographer, or at the Arlington House. Lessons in dancing given by Brown & Davis at Arlington Hall every Tuesday from 11 A. M. till 9 P. M. Social every night after dancing school.

TOLD HIS EXPERIENCE.

GRAPHIC RECITAL OF A SINNER'S EXPERIENCE AT THE SAINT'S REST.

The other evening in the Temperance Reform Club an old fellow got up and told the audience his experience in hours of temptation.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said he, as he rose from his seat and attracted everybody's attention, "I'm a living example of how drink can tempt a man."

"Come up to the front," said Dr. McKenzie kindly, as he motioned the man to the platform. The old fellow hesitated a little, but finally came forward. When he got on the platform the audience took a good square look at him. He was a large, red faced man with a nose that flamed forth in the dimly lighted hall like the reflection from a blacksmith's forge. There was an impressive silence as he began:

"It was six or seven years ago when I was first tempted. I was one of the shining lights of a temperance society, but I was subjected to sore trials."

"Tell us all about it," interrupted the Doctor. "It will do no harm."

"Well, friends, I was going up to Lake Bigler on the stage with Hank Monk, and when we got about three miles from a place called the Saint's Rest, [Sensation.] Hank told me I must get off and walk as far as the Rest, as the hill was too steep for the horses. He told me to take a short cut for the Rest, and I did, but I'll be hanged if I didn't think that it was twice as long as the regular road. [Laughter.] Well, I climbed over the rocks and brambles, walked on the top of the flume, fell off twice, killed a rattlesnake, met with some tarantulas, then I took off my coat and threw it over my shoulder. After the next mile I took off my vest, and after another mile I threw my hat, coat and vest over the flume and tramped on with the perspiration streaming from every pore. The sun was beating down on my head about two hundred and ten degrees, and I went knock down a degree. I thought I should drop right down in my tracks. The hill got steeper and the sun got hotter, and I was wet to the skin with sweat. Pretty soon I struck the Saint's Rest. [Hear hear.] When I entered the bar room my tongue was cleaving to the roof of my mouth and I was panting with exhaustion. A big fat fellow who was behind the counter threw up a towering schooner of foaming beer in plain sight and says, 'Stranger, will you take some cool beer?' My friends you don't know how I wrestled with the fiend, you don't know how I prayed."

"Did you take the beer?" asked the Doctor breathlessly.

"No, I didn't," shouted the speaker, and there was a burst of applause from all over the room.

"Good for you my brave man," continued the Doctor, slapping him on the shoulder "What did you do after you had conquered the inclination to drink the beer? I know how you were tried. What did you do next?"

"I made him put the beer out of sight [cries of "Good! good!"] from all over the house) and told him to set up whisky straight in mighty quick time, and my friends, I muzzled the liquor then and there."

The dead silence that fell over the audience was finally interrupted by singing the "Sweet Bye and Bye."

A DISGRACEFUL CASE.—A young lad named Wilbur Porter was tried in Justice Cary's court yesterday, for using vulgar language and disturbing the peace. The complaining witnesses were two young girls named Grey and Gebean. The evidence showed that the boy Porter who is about 11 years of age, had snubbed the girls, who are about 16 years old, and used epithets reflecting upon their chastity. The girls repeated the language used which was too filthy for typographical expression. The boy in rebuttal swore that the girls had used similar language. The developments of the case were simply disgraceful and should never have been allowed to come before anything but a court room in secret session. It appeared from the testimony that the boy Porter, who is the young son of a Carson street barber, got into an altercation with the girls and the parties banded all sorts of vulgar epithets at each other. The boy drew a six-shooter which he cocked and pointed at the girls; the boys father admitted, on the stand, that he had encouraged him to do it. The boy swore that the complainants had reflected on the character of his mother. The court fined the boy $50 with the alternative of going to jail twenty-five days; remarking as he did so that he considered the sentence light for a boy who, although so young, had made a turmoil in the neighborhood. In case he was ever before him again he would inflict a much heavier sentence. Porter's father paid the fine and took the child home.

THE GAM PUZZLE.—The gam puzzle which has been making such a furor in the East has at last struck Carson. The easiest way to make the puzzle is to space off sixteen squares on a piece of card board and take 15 patent gun wads and number them. The puzzle is so well known by this time that no attempt will be made to describe it here. If a man has nothing else to do he can put in ten or fifteen hours a day on the puzzle and derive lots of solid enjoyment from it. It admits of numerous combinations and illustrates the old adage that Satan is ever finding work for idle hands to do.

TEMPERANCE FOR CHILDREN.

LETTER FROM DR. MCKENZIE ON THE IMPORTANCE OF EARLY TEMPERANCE TRAINING.

EDITOR APPEAL: The use of alcoholic drinks (or poisons) lies at the foundation of a very large portion of all the licentiousness we deplore; of all, or nearly all the gambling, nearly all the domestic cruelty and misery, a large part of the youthful dissipation, effectually opposing the entrance of the gospel into young hearts. Sabbath schools are training schools for time and for eternity, and shall they longer ignore the greatest source of sin in the community? The time has come when we must go back to the formation of the habit, to the indulgence of the appetite which produces it.

Sunday schools, dealing with the beginnings of life, should logically deal with the beginnings of sin. Superintendents and teachers of Sunday schools do not meet from Sabbath to Sabbath old and confirmed inebriates, but you meet with little acts of intemperance which if not checked, lead to that sad condition. Therefore I hold that you are to deal with every one of these children as if it were a possible thing for them to become drunkards and adapt your instructions, your warnings and your counsels with that solemn thought in view. There is not a child in your city to-day of whom you can say certainly, "I know that that child will never be a drunkard," is not then prevention the greater thing? Should we not look upon this temperance cause as a vital part of christian work? Temperance is a part of religion. The more I work in this department of christian effort, the more important I attach to prevention. We must begin with the young. We must attack the formation of habit. We must begin at the beginning, and if we do not succeed here, if the Sabbath schools, with the moral and spiritual influences which it is their privilege to bring to bear upon the young heart and life, do not stop this vice in early childhood, then God pity our cities in reference to the perils of strong drink. O that you may see this and be thoroughly aroused to it. You will then find out how true is the old saying, one pound of prevention is worth 1000 pounds of cure. I hold that after a thorough and plain explanation of the effects of strong drink upon individuals, families and society, it is perfectly right and best that you should ask a child to pledge himself or herself never to touch it. Have temperance organizations for the young. Every church should be a temperance society and the pastors should be earnestly interested in this.

For pleasure or pain, for weal or for woe,
Tis the law of our being, we reap what we sow;
We may try to evade them, may do what we will,
But our acts, like our shadows, will follow us still.
We reap what we sow—oh! wonderful truth,
A truth hard to learn in the days of our youth,
But it shines out at last, as the hand on the wall,
For the world has its debt and must ever for all.

D. B. MCKENZIE.

THE NEXT REFORM CLUB ENTERTAINMENT.

—On next Saturday evening a public entertainment, and the last under the auspices of the present officers of the Reform Club, will be given at the Opera House. A spirited first part, made up of songs, recitations, etc., will be presented, and, in response to a general demand for it, the burlesque, A Shakespearean Madrigal which was so well received when first given, will be repeated. It will be given with several new local jokes, absurd situations, new songs, etc. The popular price will be adhered to, and each holder of a membership card recently issued, will be entitled to free admission to the entertainment on presentation of his or her card at the door.

TEAMSTERS FIGHTING.—Two teamsters had a fight on the Bodie road on Wednesday last about four miles from the city. They were going in opposite directions and the dispute arose as to who should turn out. One whose name was Johnson struck the other across the face with a blacksnake whip and then they had it out on the ground. In the fight Johnson was badly beaten about the face and acknowledging that he was thrashed, turned out. The man who knows when he is thrashed is liable to make a good fight on some other occasion.

ROUSING TEMPERANCE MEETING.—The temperance meeting at Theater Hall last night was the most enthusiastic of the campaign. The hall was crowded and at the song, "Almost Persuaded Rum to Resign," over thirty men marched up and signed the pledge. It was a regular temperance boom, and Doctor McKenzie feels delighted at the prospects ahead for an excitement which he thinks will shake the castles of the liquor advocates from their foundations up. There will be another meeting at the same place to-night.

FIGHT IN CHINATOWN.—Last night the police ascertaining that there was a riot going on in Chinatown, went down and found Ah Yee lying in one of the houses and bleeding profusely. He said he had been beaten over the head with a six shooter and robbed. The perpetrators of the outrage could not be found.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—The U. S. Circuit Court will convene on Monday, the 15th, Judge Sawyer presiding. The only case which will come up to-morrow is that of R. R. Parkinson. He having been convicted of illegal voting in the District Court, the present case will be a hearing in writ of error.

THE ILLUSIONISTS.—Thorn and Darwin, the illusionists, will open at the Opera House to-morrow night. They give an entirely new style of performance, and the entertainment promises to be both astonishing and pleasing.

ALWAYS AHEAD!

The Olcovich Brothers are now offering their stock at such rates that it will pay all thrifty persons to buy goods at their store.

Just opening:

Two hundred pieces new choice prints.

An invoice of E. C. Bart's celebrated kid boots.

Novelties in buttons, hairpins, fancy goods, ruchings, etc., etc.

Irish poplins worth $2.50 at 75 cents per yard.

Irish poplins worth $1 at 50 cents per yard.

WE CAN'T TALK

Without showing the condition of our teeth. Every laugh exposes them. In order not to be ashamed of them let us use that standard dentifrice, SOZODONT, which is sure to keep them white and spotless. No tartar can encrust them, no canker effect the enamel, no species of decay infest the dental bone, as if SOZODONT is regularly used. It is a botanical preparation, and its beneficial effects on the teeth and gums are marvelous, as it removes all discolorations, and renders the gums hard and rosy.

A DRY GOODS DREAM.—A woman who goes into M. Cohn's emporium drifts off into a dream of rare and beautiful feminine finery. She sees the best product of foreign looms piled up on the counters, laces, draperies, illusions and elegant-toilette materials, such as only the rarest skill can produce and which women of taste admire. The secret of the success of this house lies in the fact that M. Cohn knows how to select the best and is never imposed upon by the eastern houses who work off their inferior goods on inexperienced persons.

PROFESSOR LANGER'S MUSIC CLASS.—Prof. Langer, the well known leader of Piper's Orchestra, has started a music class in Carson. He has already received a number of scholars from the best families in the city, and his thorough methods of instruction give the best of satisfaction. He gives vocal and instrumental instructions and teaches on the piano and violin. He will give lessons on Wednesday of each week. Orders can be left at the APPEAL office. f21-1m

ATTENTION!—The greatest wonder yet discovered in medicine is Mrs. Dr. Howe's celebrated rheumatism, neuralgia and toothache cures. Would you rather suffer the pain of having a tooth drawn than buy a bottle of Mrs. Dr. Howe's toothache medicine? Mother should not be without it for their infants. A few drops in a little sweetened water to swab a teething baby's mouth will instantly relieve the little sufferer. The medicine does not cauterize, and is very pleasant. Sold by all druggists. m17
